I would like to express my salutations to everyone .....and again for everyone that is still alive from the good times past I am glad you could make it so far.....I could go on and recite a verse from Alec Ginsberg poem "Howl" but I will leave it up to you to read and understand why. We wanted changes We wanted to rule the world and more , We needed for our voice to heard and we did.....and God bless you are all here....

after all this I have one question for all of you here in rokker.it(do you still hold the passion)?
